MARKETING (MKT)

Subject-area course lists indicate courses currently active for offering at the University of Louisville. Not all courses are scheduled in any given academic term. For class offerings in a specific semester, refer to the Schedule of Classes (http://htmlaccess.louisville.edu/classSchedule/setupSearchClassSchedule.cfm).

500-level courses generally are included in both the undergraduate- and graduate-level course listings; however, specific course/section offerings may vary between semesters. Students are responsible for ensuring that they enroll in courses that are applicable to their particular academic programs.

Course Fees

Some courses may carry fees beyond the standard tuition costs to cover additional support or materials. Program-, subject- and course-specific fee information can be found on the Office of the Bursar website (http://louisville.edu/bursar/tuitionfee/).

MKT 200. Elements of Marketing 1.5 Units
Prerequisite(s): Admission to the Business Essentials minor program; CIS 100 or CIS 250; MGMT 101.
Description: An introduction to the basic elements of marketing. For class offerings for a specific term, refer to the Schedule of Classes (http://htmlaccess.louisville.edu/classSchedule/setupSearchClassSchedule.cfm)

MKT 201. MULTICULTURALISM IN THE MARKETPLACE 3 Units
Term Typically Offered: Occasionally Offered
Description: As the United States becomes increasingly majority "minority" (that is, non-White groups may exceed 50% of the population by 2050), there is growing demand for marketing professionals who understand how to create value for culturally specific groups of people through culturally relevant products, brands, and advertisements. This course will focus on understanding the historical development of diverse cultural groups in the U.S. (e.g., Hispanic/Latino and African Americans) and employing this understanding to execute effective marketing efforts to not only those groups, but any group. Specifically, the course will cover the impact of culture, socio-economic differences, and trends within these diverse groups and their implications for how profit and non-profit organizations market products to customers. Course content will consist of lectures, guest speakers, discussions, exercises, and cultural immersion experiences aimed at increasing students’ cultural competence in marketing.
Note: Open to all University of Louisville students.

For class offerings for a specific term, refer to the Schedule of Classes (http://htmlaccess.louisville.edu/classSchedule/setupSearchClassSchedule.cfm)

MKT 202. Design Thinking for Creative Problem Solving - SB 3 Units
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring
Description: This course teaches students how to use a rapid, iterative & user-centered approach to develop solutions to "wicked" social, public policy and/or business problems. Through active class exercises, reflection journals and a collaborative semester long project, students will develop agile, critical thinking and empathy skills useful in understanding and developing creative solutions to such problems.
Note: Students may not earn credit for both MKT 202 and MKT 410.

For class offerings for a specific term, refer to the Schedule of Classes (http://htmlaccess.louisville.edu/classSchedule/setupSearchClassSchedule.cfm)

MKT 203. ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI) IN THE MARKETPLACE 3 Units
Term Typically Offered: Occasionally Offered
Description: Artificial Intelligence (AI) has transformed the business landscape, revolutionizing how organizations operate and interact with customers. This course offers a comprehensive exploration of the impact AI has had in the marketplace. Through active class exercises, reflection journals, and individual and group projects, students will learn to understand and use AI technologies in various marketing contexts. Societal and ethical issues associated with AI in the marketplace will also be discussed. No prior experience in AI is required.
Note: Open to all University of Louisville students.
